City of Port Townsend Street Painting Information for Neighborhood Block Party Projects

What are the benefits of street paintings? Building community! Street paintings encourage neighbors to meet each other and work together toward a common goal. They add vibrancy and color to the streetscape and allow residents to have a say in the look and feel of their neighborhood.

Where can I paint? Street paintings last much longer on streets with less traffic. We recommend painting on residential streets with low traffic volumes. Any painting on a minor arterial, major collector (as defined by the City's Engineering Design Standards), or any other street the City deems to present a traffic control challenge must be cosponsored by the City. We can only permit painting on City streets (not State highway or private roads, even if within City limits). Painting projects within school zones require additional coordination with the School District to ensure safety is maintained.

Paintings are allowed on driving areas at intersections. Mid-block paintings or requests to paint surfaces other than driving areas (such as sidewalks or curbs) may be considered, dependent on a traffic safety review by the Public Works Director. Paintings at intersections with existing traffic control devices, such as stop signs or traffic circles, must be approved for safety by City engineering staff.

The City Public Works Director or designee reserves the right to request that an applicant modify a proposal when a location raises traffic safety concerns.*

What images can I paint? Street painting projects allow community members to create designs that are meaningful for a neighborhood and help establish a sense of place. General guidelines are found in PTMC Chapter 12.11 (attached). In addition, no copyrighted images or designs or words that mimic traffic control devices are allowed. To reduce the potential for traffic distraction, we recommend that designs do not include text.

How detailed does my sketch need to be? For small-scale neighborhood paintings, an informal sketch is acceptable. We realize these projects can be free-flowing and aspects of the design may change as the painting gets underway. Please make sure that any changes still fall within the allowable criteria.

What type of paint should I use? Water-based spray marking paint.

What insurance is required? Please contact your insurance provider about obtaining special event coverage, general liability coverage, or a rider on a homeowners' policy to cover the activities and dates of the event. The City of Port Townsend must be named as an additional insured for $1 million. Limits and coverage may be adjusted as determined by the City Manager. Submit proof of insurance no later than one week prior to the painting date.

Do I have to notify neighboring property owners about the project? Applicants must obtain signatures from residents (not necessarily property owners) of 80% of the properties within a one-block radius of the painting location. A sample petition with instructions is included with this application. Contacting neighbors is a great way to build community support for your project.

Can I pressure wash the area before painting? Arrangements may be made with the Public Works and Police Departments for applicants to clean the painting area the morning of or day before painting, depending on location and date.

How do I close off the street to paint safely? After an application has been approved by City Council, the applicant must work with the Port Townsend Police Department to coordinate a street closure. Closure dates and times may be weather- and traffic-dependent. The City may be able to provide traffic control depending on budgets.

How do I maintain my painting when it starts to wear away? Community members may choose to maintain existing street paintings year after year. As long as the design and location are unchanged, only a Special Events Permit (issued by the City of Port Townsend Police Department) will be required. Changes in location or design require a new Street Painting Application. Please note that the City will not replace paintings when streets are repaved or dug up for utility work. Contact the Public Works Department about any planned street repair or utility projects.

Is funding assistance available? The Port Townsend Arts Commission reviews grant applications for art projects that provide a public benefit, which may include neighborhood street paintings. Please visit the Arts Commission webpage for information on the grant process and an application form:

How do I get started? A good first step is to talk with your neighbors about your painting idea to gather support for the project. Before submitting an application, please contact City staff at frontdesk@cityofpt.us to make sure there are no traffic safety concerns with the location.

STREET USE PERMITS – STREET PAINTING ALL DISTRICTS

Sections:

- 12.11.010 Intent
- 12.11.020 Applicability – Permit required.
- 12.11.030 Street painting permit approval.
- 12.11.040 Approval criteria.
- 12.11.050 Removal maintenance.

12.11.010 Intent

Painting on city streets and sidewalks should positively promote the character and values of the community and add to the unique vibrancy of Port Townsend. Paintings on the street and sidewalks should not negatively affect traffic safety or interfere with the traveling public's use of city streets and sidewalks.

12.11.020 Applicability – Permit required.

This chapter pertains to allowing street, sidewalk, and intersection paintings and community-designed crosswalks in all districts in the city. It does not pertain to any painting or markings applied by the city or state for traffic safety or traffic control or to any street, sidewalk and intersection paintings and community-designed crosswalks drawn in chalk or other medium that may be removed with the non-pressurized application of water. No person or group of people may install street, sidewalk, and intersection paintings or community-designed crosswalks in the city without first obtaining a permit from the city pursuant to the process and requirements in this chapter. This chapter provides the exclusive method for obtaining approval of uses that are regulated by this chapter. The city reserves the right to remove any street painting that is installed without a permit.

12.11.030 Street painting permit approval

A. The public works director (or designee) will, in consultation with the arts commission, develop a permit application and process for street, sidewalk, and intersection paintings and community-designed crosswalks. The arts commission will review proposed street, sidewalk and intersection paintings and community-designed crosswalks for consistency with this chapter and will make recommendations to the city council, which will have final approval of any street, sidewalk and intersection paintings or community-designed crosswalks that are consistent with this chapter and public safety.

B. For street, sidewalk, and intersection paintings or community-designed crosswalks proposed for installation in an area subject to design or historic preservation review, the city will process the installation through the city's historic preservation review or design review process. The arts commission and the historic preservation committee may meet together to discuss the permit application.

C. Holders of street painting permits will coordinate with the chief of police (or designee) for any needed street closures in order to ensure the safe installation.

D. The city may require that a street painting permit holder indemnify the city.

E. The city council decision to approve or deny a street painting permit is final.

12.11.040 Approval criteria

The city does not intend a street, sidewalk, or intersection painting or a community-designed crosswalk to be a legal “public forum” and therefore reserves the right to control the art displayed on all city property, including painting or other art installations on city streets and sidewalks. The city reserves the right to deny a street painting permit application or to remove a street, sidewalk, or intersection painting or community-designed crosswalk if it depicts:

1. Violent images
2. Sexually graphic images
3. Religious symbols or desecration of the same
4. Hatred of persons or groups of people
5. Support for or opposition to a candidate or initiative on the ballot
6. Advertisement for a good or service for sale
7. Imagery that may be inappropriate to maintain in or upon public property because it so objectionable under contemporary community standards that it is reasonably foreseeable to result in harm to, disruption of, or interference with the public’s use of city property.

12.11.050 Removal and maintenance.

Once installed, the street, sidewalk, or intersection painting or community-designed crosswalk is the property of the city, which may remove it without notice if the painting interferes with public safety, street maintenance, or is vandalized or damaged. The city has no obligation to maintain, repair, or reinstall a street, sidewalk, or intersection painting or community-designed crosswalk.
